Fort Lauderdale, Florida – "Back by popular demand," Jubilee Dance Theatre (JDT) will be appearing for the first time at the African American Research Library and Cultural Center, 2650 Sistrunk Boulevard, Saturday, October 25, 2003 at 6:00 pm. Admission is FREE to the general public.

This multicultural company's main focal point is to encourage and educate its audience through entertainment. JDT will present a variety of dance styles, including ballet, modern, jazz and hip-hop, infused with imagery, performed with passion and heart: a creation that is visually appealing to all.

On August 23rd and 24th of this year, Jubilee Dance Theatre debuted to a sold out audience in Davie, Florida and received rave reviews. This company's future is taking flight, setting a new standard of dance in the South Florida area, by creating an outlet for artistic expression, through dancing with the mind, body and soul. JDT's goal is not only to entertain its audiences but also to express and bring awareness about political, social and emotional issues. Telling the story from our bodies to your hearts.

Jubilee Dance Theatre was founded in February 2003, under the direction of Luctricia "Lu" Welters, whose vision was to develop a style of risk-taking choreography that would be innovative and unique. Lu Welters' vision was to express the art of dance by working with dancers from all backgrounds and cultures. Claudine Carter-Pereira, Assistant Artistic Director, has also been part of this vision since 1999. They both defy stereotypes by thinking outside the realms of the traditional dance theater: this company has truly ventured "OUT OF THE BOX."

Jubilee Dance Theater is sponsored by the Broward County Board of Commissioners and the African American Research Library and Cultural Center.
